REPRESSIVE FACTORS THE KING'S ILLNESS AND MONEY OUTLOOK.

No Great Pressure to Sell, the Market Being Merely Quiet-General Price Level Is Somewhat Lower.

NEW YORK, June 28.-The general stock market to-day was practically inert. There were some speculative operations in a few special stocks, but they had no appreciable effect on the general list. The bank statement did not reflect any notable recuperation, but the condition of the banks is well maintained, despite the week's syndicate operations and preparations which presumably have been made for the July settlement. The statement, therefore, was considered negatively favorable. There 13 Amal. Copper 1.100 61% an expectation, however, that there may be some shifting of loans on Monday. Today's money and exchange markets were nominal, as is usual on Saturday, but sterling exchange at Paris fell half a centime, thus narrowing the margin between the point of profit on gold shipments. Forgo out next week. Of to-day's special distributed to stockholders. Illinois Central was moved up to a fraction above the price touched on the day the new stock issue was announced, and closed at the top. The general market ran off slightly in the closing dealings. The report of a voluntary increase of 10 per cent. in wages by the United States Steel Corporation though the industrial department generally was heavy. Reading also was heavy, because of a rumor that the President had requested an opinion from the attorney general as to whether the anthracite coal combination is in contravention of the anti-trust law. The closing tone was Western Union 1,000 89% Prices of stocks have been lower this week, with some recovery. The conspicuduliness. This was equally true of the selling and the buying. The elaborate ceremonies in effect out of proportion to its real power There is a serious element of loss involved the business world of London and there was, in addition, a large speculative commitment on the hope of trade revival as a result of the end of the war in South Africa which might be forced into liquidation should the depressing effect of the King's illness check the expected improvement. There was, therefore, a considerable presure of American securities for London account on the New York market. Had it not been for renewed selling by New York bankers of loan bills in the exchange market it is probable that gold would have gone out this week. This course of the exchange market was a more | Rates on Loans and Exchange-Cleareffective factor in checking stock market activity than was the actual pressure of foreign holdings of stock for sale in New of King Edward and the London holidays relieved the New York market from the lepressing influence of the London market syndicate requirements to be met this week The end of the half year, and the preparaest disbursements in excess of any precedent emphasized the need of a cautious policy. The market gave evidence of the guardianship of powerful protectors, nevertheless, in the occasional advance of special stocks, notably the Gould group, St. Paul and Reading. The drawing out of the coal strike and the possibility of its early extension among the soft coal miners has been generally ignored. The May reports of the anthracite-carrying roads offer the opportunity to estimate the oal trade, but the big declines in earnings discontent in other departments of the labor world, but this has found little active result in the stock market. Confidence is general that the year's crops will be large, notwithstanding the week's reports of some unseasonable weather for the corn crop and for winter wheat harvesting and the need of the Texas cotton crop of rain. There remain some misgivings regarding the course of the money market during the fall, when the demand for currency and the maturing of foreign loan obligations may converge upon New York. There is a notable neglect also of the industrial stocks as a class, with United States Steel as a lead-(and other young creatures which have their er. Indianapolis Tin Can Preferred

We have underwritten a $25,000 issue of this 6 per cent, cumulative stock. The buildings and machinery represent a $50,000 cash investment of Mr. Grafton Johnson, who is the largest packer of vegetables in Indiana. The preferred stock thus represents only 50 per cent, of the actual money put in the plant, which began operations with orders for 8,0 0,000 cans. Maximum capacity of the plant, which is at the Belt railroad and West Eighteenth street, is 50,000,000 cans a year. Of this preferred stock issue a large portion has already been placed in the hands of investors. The remainder is offered at par. Shares $30 each. Dividends date from June I last. Payable December I and June I of each year.

Of the insurance on this plant, $25,000 is assigned to the Security Trust empany for the benefit of the preferr d stockholders. Twenty per cent, of the roffts are set aside each year as a fund for the retirement of this stock at 105. Other features for protection of preferred stockholders. Prospectus on application. Checks should be made payable to Security Trust Company.

The Bible does not discuss athelsm or pantheism or deism. Only by implication and only in a few scattered passages is there to be found in the Bible any statement of reasons for belief in God or in His personality or in His connection with human life. But the Bible is full of experiences of God. Sometimes the experience is one of longing for Him-"O that I knew where I might find Him:" sometimes it is a heart hunger for Him-"As the heart pant-eth after the water brooks, so panteth my soul after Thee, O God;" sometimes it a new sense of His holiness and of worth of His companionship produced l consciousness of sin committed-"Agi

Christ to His disciples: When ye pray say our Father. This is what the Master seems to say: Recognize Him as your lawgiver, sonal friend. This is something very different from merely believing that there is a God. To prove to a man that there is a Now, here is a thing that actually hap-as well as if they had happened to me, and it is no fairy tale. Since that time, while

Rear Admiral Clark.

The promotion of Captain Charles E.

Clark to be a rear admiral of the United States navy is conspicuously well deserved and will be applauded by the people of the United States with rare ununimity

There can be no individiousness in saying that he was among those who did the Nation best service in the Spanish war, and concerning the value of whose services there was, and is, least ground for doubt or dispute. We have only to recall the simple facts of record. When the Maine was destroyed and war was seen to be inevitable, the eyes of the Nation turned to Captain Clark and his ship. The hope of the Nation was placed in his bringing the Oregon around to join our fleet in Caribbean waters, and thus making the latter strong enough to cope with any fleet Spain might send against it. All through the long and arduous voyage the Oregon was followed by the American people with an anxiety seldom known in our history. When at last able part in the great sea drama off San-
